Grading, Inspection Rules on Poultry Might Be Changed

Regulations governing the Federal grading and inspection programs for poultry would be changed in an amendment proposed today by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The more important of the changes under consideration include: (1) a change in the definition of "ready-to-cook poultry" requiring the removal of kidneys; (2) the addition of a requirement that licensed graders be Federal or State employees; (3) the inclusion of a provision to permit the use of limitedlicensed graders working under the immediate supervision of a licensed grader; (4) the listing of specified -prohibited acts (connected with employees of the service) which would be grounds for denial of service.

Over ten per cent of the United States population suffers at least one cold per "season" — a total of over 130 million cold sufferers annually. This is according to officials of Grove Laboratories, Inc. the world's largest manufacturer of cold tablets

The common cold is a year around disease, however, it reaches a peak outbreak three times each year. The first high point esults from the sniffles and sneezes occurring between mid-September and the end of October The second, and most severe, takes place between early January and mid-February, while the hird occurs from late March to late April.

By 1957 Consumption Of Tree Nuts Might Exceed U.S. Supply

Washington, (USDA) - By 1975 the consumption of tree nuts in the United States is likely to exceed present supplies, according to a marketing research report just released by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Along with the rise in consumption, production is also expected to

If per capita consumption of tree nuts remained at 1955 levels, population increases alone would insure an annual domestic consumption of over 300 million pounds, shelled basis, by 1975. However, per capita consumption of tree nuts is expected to increase due to improved marketing methods and increased consumer education concerning use of nuts in main course dishes as well as in desserts and confec-

HUNTINGTON PARK, Calif. A jury couldn't agree recently on whether Mrs. Margie Gomes, 26, was guilty of battery for biting a dog-catcher. The dog-catcher, Donald Baird, testified she bit him on the arm as he was trying to snare her beagle pup. Mrs. Gomes said Baird twisted her around and shoved her against the back door of the truck, so she bit him A new trial was set.

NO SIGN

There is still no sign of a general reduction in rail fares. But plans are believed to be well in hand to prolong journeys, and so give bettter value for money, - Punch.
