SALMON PATTIES

Empty contents of one can of salmon in a sauce pan or bowl, remove bones. Add one small onion cut fine or celery or both if you wish.

One egg well beaten
One-half cup milk scant
A good half or three-fourth cup ground cracker crumbs

Break salmon into small pieces if large. Mix all together and form into balls (with a spoon against the side of your pan). Place in hot skillet with a little butter and lard or other shortening in it and flatten to desired thickness. When brown on one side, turn.

PEA SOUP

Empty two cans peas (frozen peas do not make a good soup) in a stewing kettle and add salt and pepper to taste. Add a little celery salt and onion seasoning. I use the amount that stays on end of a soup spoon handle.

347 EGGS

This Greider Super-cross hen laid 347 eggs, almost a case full, in one year. Typical of the breeding behind your Greider leghorn chicks. Write or call Mt Joy 39900

Boil till peas crack open. Then mash with a round potato masher. Add butter and milk — as much as you like.

This is a quick meal for Sunday dinner, goes well with Pudding, Jello, fruit, etc. You can use this same recipe to make Bean Soup. Soak one box dried soup beans over night, boil good and soft. Take through a coarse colander, add seasonings, bring to a boil and add butter and milk.

We like these original recipes from you ladies. Won't some more of send us yours?

Here is a letter with an Ephrata postmark but no name. This reader says:

I am a regular reader and also won a free subscription to Lancaster Farming. We thank you for it. I sure enjoy reading Dr. Kenneth J. Foreman — The Bible Speaks. I wonder if somebody could furnish me with the poem called "Thanatopsis"? Am sending a recipe for sweet potato patties.

SWEET POTATO PATTIES

Six sweet potatoes
One cup cracker crumbs
Two eggs
One-half cup milk
One-half teaspoon salt
One-eighth teaspoon pepper
Butter size of walnut
Boil sweet potatoes till soft, skin, mash. Mix everything together. Make into patties, roll in cracker crumbs or flour. Fry in butter in hot skillet.

This reader adds:
For tomato soup that will not curdle, melt butter in sauce till hot, not brown. Add tomatoes, bring to boil, boil five minutes, add milk.

Q Is there an advantage, from a legal standpoint, in having a car registered in the names of both husband and wife? Does this dual registration cost more?
E G Q

A The dual registration cost, no more than having the automobile registered in an individual name. There are both advantages and disadvantages to joint ownership. The most obvious advantages are that a jointly owned automobile cannot be attached for the individual debts of either owner, and that title passes to the survivor if one of the spouses should die. Disadvantages arise if the parties separate or are divorced, and sometimes joint ownership causes difficulty in certain accident situations. Your attorney could explain the pros and cons in greater details, and could answer any specific questions you might have.

Q Is there any law in regard to a man refusing to make a home for his wife or give her anything towards support? He now lives somewhere in New York City and was known to have had a job with the city last year. His wife has been compelled to make her home with the two married children in Pennsylvania and take their support.
M M

A A husband is liable for his wife's support even though he is living in another state. This case should be brought to the attention of the domestic relations officer of the Court in your county, who will institute a proceeding against the husband under the Uniform Support Law. This will eventually cause an order to be entered for the wife's support against the husband in New York requiring him to send money to her regularly.

Q If man and wife jointly own a property but are divorced, can one be forced to sell if not willing?
G B

A Following a divorce, the parties become tenants in common with regard to the property previously owned, that is, they each become sole owner of an undivided one half interest in the property. Either party may then bring an action of partition which will result in a physical division of the property if the same is possible, or if not, the Court will order a sale and a division of the proceeds received therefrom. This action of partition can be consummated in spite of the opposition of one of the parties.

Q Please tell me whether the witnesses of a will must appear at the Court House when a will is probated, or must they appear just if there is a controversy over the will? What is the procedure if one or both of the witnesses die before the will is probated?
S G

A A person who has signed as witness to a will must appear before the Register of Wills at the Courthouse when the will is probated. The witness must appear whether or not there is a controversy.

For the Farm Wife and Family

If either or both of the witnesses are dead, another witness must be obtained who is familiar with the signature of the Testator (maker of the will) or one who is familiar with the signature of the deceased witnesses. Friends, relatives (not beneficiaries under the will) or Bank tellers are often used as substituted witnesses to the probate.
