Hit 7 Year Low In Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG - Stocks of potatoes on hand in Pennsylvania are the lowest in seven years, commercial growers plan to cut back their 1957 potato plantings to the smalest in history, and to bacco growers plan no change from last year's acreage, the State Department of Agriculture announced Monday.

Stocks of all potatoes held by Keystone State growers and dealers on March 1 were estimated at 1,100,000 hundledweight or about half the 2,180,000 on hand March 1 last year Potatoes on hand were the lowest of record dating back, to 1950 Disappearance during February 1s estimated at 1,300,000 hundredweight compared with 1,-310,000 last year

In early March potatoes moved in volume from those sections with stocks remaining on March 1. Stocks still on hand include potatoes for table stock, feed for livestock, seed for the 1957 crop and amounts to be used for feed, seed and household use on farms 🕴 where grown.

Reports from farmers indicate a decrease of 1,000 acres (two per cent) is planned for potatoes in Pennsylvania from the 52,000 acres planted in 1956. If these intensions are fulfilled, this would be the smallest planted acreage of record. The average planted acreage for the 10-year (1946-55) period is 83,000 acres.
