Water, Water Everywhere But Is It Safe To Drink?

Lancaster, Pa. — "The truth is that a great number of the wells and springs tested are not fit to drink," says Cliff Lehman, Water Conditioning Consultant for Century Water Co., 15 West Chestnut St., Lancaster. Health officials are very concerned about the ever increasing contamination of private water supplies

It is a constant surprise that people who would not think of using someone else's toothbrush, continue to use water that may not be safe

There are lots of myths about the purity of well and spring water that tend to make most persons unaware of the health hazard that lurks in what often appears to be crystal clear water. And today what may be pure water, tomorrow may be contaminated!

The housing boom, coupled with the big increase in the number of factories, has made waste disposal and seepage of contamination a big problem. Streams and rivers help spread poisons that seep through sub-strata ground levels into drinking supplies and septic tanks are now making the situation even worse.

Rather than sickness from untreated water, Cliff Lehman advises, install inexpensive automatic chlorination, dechlorination units.

Chlorination kills water born bacteria that endanger health and a dechlorination device takes all taste, odor and color out of the water. The result is sparkling pure, safe water.

Most folks carry fire insurance and they don't expect a fire, this gives low cost protection against possible disaster.

Your water source presents a similiar picture. Protecting it against contamination is a form of insurance —sound health insurance
