

For the Farm Wife and Family

Chorus Featured At Homemakers Week

The Homemakers Chorus will be a special feature of the 1959 Extension Homemakers Week program for the third consecutive year. Alfred A. Zimmer, department of education, Susquehanna University, will direct the chorus as he has done in the preceding years.

In announcing this interest group, Miss Norma Zehmer, extension home economist, says practice for the chorus will take the place of two other interest groups. However, this still gives homemakers a chance to participate in two additional groups of their own choice.

Forty women have been members of the chorus each year and it is expected more will participate this year. The chorus is only one of the 30 different interest groups offered. They include a variety of topics related to homemaking and family living. Women may participate in four different interest groups, indicating their choice when they register.

Other features on the three day program include talks and demonstrations, chicken barbeque, banquet, vespers service and special entertainment.

This seventh annual event, June 15-18, at the Pennsylvania State University, is open to all interested homemakers. Further information on program and cost may be obtained from the Extension Office.

KITCHEN WIRING

When building or remodeling, be sure the kitchen has enough electric circuits to insure full use of appliances now and in the future, advises Miss Helen E. Bell, Penn State home management extension specialist. If several appliances operate at the same time on a single electric circuit, they may overload the circuit and cause it to go out of service. However, if appliances are attached to several circuits, all will work without interruption.

SAVE FARM BABIES

A little extra attention will save baby lambs, pigs or calves born in cold weather.

Cleaning Lime Deposits From A Steam Iron
QUESTION: I don't use distilled water in my steam iron and it seems to clog. How do I remove the lime.
ANSWER: If your manufacturer's instructions say to use distilled water, it may be best to do so.

To clean out the lime you can add a little vinegar to the distilled water, let the iron heat, gently shake the iron to loosen the lime. Then let the iron rest in a flat position off the board so it will steam 15 minutes. The lime pieces will come out as it

Or you can use one of the commercial steam iron cleaners. Be sure to use the amount recommended and in the way the directions say.
