When planning a new lawn, the soil is the first consideration, reminds Jack Harper, Penn State extension agronomist. He suggests getting a soil testing kit from your county agricultural agent. Instructions for taking the soil sample and for mailing it to the laboratory come with the kit

DEKALB LAYERS

HIGH EGG PRODUCTION

Fewer seasonal laying slumps and a high rate of production result in larger, more consistent profits.

EGG SIZE THE MARKET PREFERS

Plenty large... but not too big... describes DeKalb eggs. They're just what the customer wants.

LIVABILITY
From baby chicks to mature hens and through a long laying period, DeKalb livability is tops.

FEWER CULLS
DeKalb Chix are bred to require less culling because birds are almost identical genetically.

REDUCED FEED COSTS
Many poultry raisers have happily watched feed costs go down after switching to DeKalb layers.

HIGH INTERIOR QUALITY

Firm, upstanding whites and big, golden yolks give DeKalb eggs an appeal that whets appetites.

STRONG SHELLS

Fewer broken eggs in handling means more eggs to sell. DeKalb eggs are ideally shaped, too

For years, DeKalb has employed some of the most skilled scientists in the world to work at producing the greatest layer in the world. Many spokesmen for the poultry industry believe this goal has been achieved. But, even if this is so, technical genetic work will never cease at DeKalb.
