Have you ever had the opportunity of seeing this word "more" at the bottom of a page of newspaper copy on its way to the linotype machines? It's shop talk for "more story to come".

That more story is to come, happily, has been the continuing fact about the newspapers in our country. Never yet has there been any serious encroachment upon their right to speak out in fair praise or just criticism of what we as a nation, as a community, or as individuals are doing. "more" is a wonderful word when you think of it this way. May our newspapers always keep for it the same untarnished meaning that it now has.

This is National Newspaper Week . . . and a fitting time to remind you that American newspapers have more story to come.
