Are We Free?

LESSON for January 17, 1960
HEADLINE writing is tricky business. You have only so much room, and so cannot always say clearly what you mean. That "Are We Free?" up there in the headline could mean some things it doesn't. The question does not mean, Are Americans free? or, Are readers of this column free? The question is about Christians. Are we free? That still is not clear enough. Free from what? Christians are certainly free from terror in the presence of God.

Dr. Foreman

We are free from the burden of guilt. We are free (or have a right to be) from anxiety and worry, and especially from the fear of death. But that is not the question we mean. To get down to brass tacks, our question is this: Is a Christian free from the law of God, especially from God's law as made known to us in the Ten Commandments?
The Question Is An Old One
The first Christians held their first great convention or conference to decide on this question. The way the problem came up with them was this: The first Christian churches, you remember, were made up almost exclusively of Jews. They were brought up on their Scriptures, our Old Testament, and they took it seriously as the Word of God. They found in it not a mere Ten Commandments, but at least Six Hundred Thirteen Commandments. It may have been a chore to try to abide by all these laws spread out over pages and pages of Leviticus, Numbers and Deuteronomy. But there the laws were, and conscientious ex-Jews who became Christians brought these laws right along with them.
Now when Paul and Barnabas went out on their tours, the churches were made up, for the of non-Jews, and no people knew nothing about the Old Testament.

The Jerusalem Christians sending messengers to Gentile Christian groups them they really were tians at all, they hadn't because they hadn't of God in every detail Christians said, Oh, but from the law. The Je tians said, No man is ev the law. So there at a great church meeting who was right. There debate, and finally an Scholars do not fully the terms of the agree was sent out as a churches. But one the decision went again salem church. The que was: What do you have a Christian? What do do to be saved? The church had been saying to do a great deal to be have to be an avowed the Law before God w sider saving you. But had a higher view was this: Every one is saved by grace—the free act of God's loving

Free From Slavery; Free

The question was in that great Council coming up, and Paul to the Romans and to explaining it all over comes up in our time ways. What do I have God will come to my that is what "save" me are two common wro One is that every sing Old Testament is him Christian. It is keeping that saves us, really saves us provided enough. The other w is that God saves us and then since he has can go do as we plea possibly go wrong if saved The right ans this: God saves us by good, not because we ing been saved, keep then a joyous token titude Freed from slav set free to serve. God never be earned, it taken—by faith.

THIS WEEK —In Washington With Clinton Davidson Congress' Agenda

Congress settled down this week to a scheduled six-months session that, in addition to partisan political debate, includes three major issues.
Congressional leaders we have talked with list those issues as: (1) foreign policy, (2) farm programs, and (3) economic policies. The three could be lumped under the general heading of "peace and prosperity"
Add to those, as secondary issues, debate over civil rights, federal aid to education, tax revision, changes in social security legislation, and the federal aid highway program.
Nobody in Washington will be forgetting that this is a presidential election year in which all Representatives and one-third of the Senators will either be running for reelection or voluntarily retiring Further complicating the Washington situation is the fact that, as in 5 of the past 6 years, Democrats have a large majority in Congress, while Republicans are in charge of the Administrative branch of government.

Peace and Aid
There is more political unity on foreign policy than any of the other important issues before Congress. There is solid backing for President Eisenhower in his Summit Conference scheduled for late spring in Paris.
There are differences, however, over foreign aid, both economic and military. Our European allies are the most prosperous since before World War II and there is strong demand in Congress that they share a larger part of the Free World defense costs. The President wants, and likely will get, some kind of a "food for peace" program that will call for increased shipments of food to such under-developed countries as India at a cost of somewhere near $3 billion.
Prosperity
There are sharper political differences over farm programs and such economic issues as inflation and management-labor disputes. Success of the Administration's anti-inflation program depends on settlement of strikes without substantial wage increases.

A substantial number of congressmen favor "get-tough" legislation to prevent protracted strikes in important industries, such as steel and transportation. Such legislation isn't likely, however in an election year.
Most troublesome of all is the problem of developing a farm program which would (1) reduce farm aid costs, (2) halt the build-up of surpluses, and (3) reverse the sharp decline in farm income.
The division over farm issues is almost strictly along party lines. The President vetoed a Democratic farm bill last year, and Congress flatly refused to consider an Administration farm program that Mr Eisenhower has again asked for this year.

TO OPEN UP LOOSE HOUSING
men practicing loose housing should be sure that ing barn is well ventilated and preferably entirely at least one side. The practice of shutting up a long stable will result in condensation on the ceiling, rotting of the building, and wet litter and moisture is given off from the manure pack animals; this moist air should have plenty of escape. A dry, thick, manure pack will aid in keep cows warm even in very cold weather.

TO MAKE FEED CHANGES SLOWLY — Success stock men have learned that any change in ration be very gradual, in some cases the digestive system animal will be upset and bloating or scouring w In other cases with dairy cattle a sudden change may bring on udder flare-ups and trouble.

TO ELIMINATE DRAFTS IN DAIRY BARN—Col er is at hand and drafts are not good for any man this is especially true in the dairy barn with sma and with the milking herd. Large cracks, broken hay holes, silo doors, and litter holes at the end of should be tightened. In the case of the milking draft on the udder may bring about udder infect dairymen are urged to check their barns on a day, and eliminate the drafts. This is a very part of good herd management.

MOTHER CAN DRIVE
Girl Scouts, boy scouts, PTA, Farm Women, 4-H, FHA, Like busy bees buzzing near a hive
We never miss a meeting — Mother can drive.
Beds unmade, ironing not done,
The children are all out having fun,
And learning and living and —sakes alive!
Who will do the housework? Mother can drive!
