

Jacob Houser
Treasurer
of DHIA.

Jacob Houser, Jr. Lamer, was elected treasurer of the county Dairy Herd Improvement Association at a special meeting of the board of directors on Monday night.

Houser won the nod over Jay Rissler by a vote of two to one to succeed Charles Long who had been president of the organization for over 10 years.

In making his financial report, Long reported a balance of $1,885.66 in the treasury. He also reported that the association had been awarded $133.00 for a late so-curity report. He said one of the testers had advised in the information submitted for the report late because of illness.

Houser, a former tester, will begin his duties immediately. The directors set his salary at $40.00 per month.

Director Everett Kreider reported that two farmer members had questioned the accuracy of the monthly newsletter. After some discussion, it was decided that simplified reports are agreed available from the University. The newsletter will again contain enough information to make it worthy. The lactation records have not been included in recent months because of the record keeping and accounting machines at the Penn State University.
By mutual agreement the board voted to continue the newsletter on its regular schedule.

KITCHEN COUNTER
LIGHTS

Mount lights for kitchen counters, such as food preparation centers, under wall cabinets, suggests Sanna-ck, Penn State home management extension specialist. For each 30 inches of counter space, use a 20-watt fluorescent tubes. Install lighting boards or shade the lights in some way if the lamps are above eye level of family members eat or work in the kitchen.

Spring Fever?
Green Vegetables are Good Tonic

You'll find no better spring tonic than the fresh greenens now appearing on the spring markets. These fresh green foods are packed with vitamins and minerals to pull you out of that spring fever lag, according to University Extension service specialists.

While the color of vegetables has a lot to do with the final attractiveness of a meal, the nutritive value of the vegetables is an important factor. And that's where greens really come into their own.

Green vegetables are an excellent source of vitamin A — one of the essential vitamins for health. And the greener they are, the more vitamin A raw greens are also a good source of vitamin C. But in order to get the most of that vitamin, you have to serve greens fresh and prepare them just before serving.

Vegetables with dark green leaves also contain B vitamins. Greens also rate well as a source of iron, calcium and phosphorus.

It's one thing to buy good quality greens at the store.
But it's another matter when you get them at home.
For it's in the home that they often lose quality from poor care, according to home economists.

When you get the greens home from the store—and this applies to all greens—remove any bruised leaves.
Then, if you wish, wash the greens. After they are clean put them in a covered container and place them in the refrigerator. It's a good idea to use the greens as soon as possible after they are purchased in order to get the most from them in the way of vitamins and minerals. and from overcooking. Use a small amount of water and cook in a covered pan just long enough for the vegetable to become tender.
