Ag. Secretary Gives Warning Poisons Must Be Labeled

HARRISBURG, State Secretary of Agriculture William L. Henning has announced that agents of the Bureau of Foods and Chemistry have been instructed to prosecute retailers of pesticides found making sales from bulk containers into unmarked cans and jars.

"This is an extremely dangerous practice," Secretary Henning said "In addition, it is a violation of the Pennsylvania Pesticide Act of 1957"

Delmar K. Myers, acting director of the Bureau of Foods and Chemistry, says that pesticides are considered to be misbranded if the labeling accompanying the pesticides does not contain instructions for use which are necessary for the protection of the public, if the label does not contain a warning or caution statement, and if the label does not bear an ingredient statement.

"Many of these pesticides are deadly poisons, especially in their concentrated forms," Myers says "It is a risk to the farm family to have them stored in containers which do not indicate what their contents may be."

"For example, if some of the poison is ingested or spilled on the skin accidentally, it would be impossible to tell the treating physician the composition of the pesticide This knowledge can mean the difference between
