When she showed the grand champion steer at the Pennsylvania Livestock Exposition at Harrisburg

In addition to the two top Angus titles, Lancaster county entries took three other breed titles as well as county trio and the showmanship contest

Dallas Wolgemuth, Mount Joy R1, showed the champion Hereford followed by the entry of Bruce Kulp, of Manheim R4, in the reserve spot

Robert Hosler, Manheim R4, showed his 905 pound Shorthorn to the reserve championship of that breed behind the 1,045 pound steer of Stanley Hyman of Dauphin County

Glen Foreman, Manheim R4, won the showmanship contest and the Hereford calf presented by the Intelligence-Journal newspaper.

Darvin Boyd, Ephrata R3, last year's winner was second high showman of the county, although he stood third in line below Foreman and Judith Harvey, Chester County

Mast's champion teamed with the entries of Janet Frey, Marietta R1, and Marlin Cassel, Manheim R1, to take the county trio over Chester county in the runner up spot and Northampton in third place

Wesley, son of Mr and Mrs Jacob K. Mast, led the Kinloch Farms—bred champion into the sale ring during the afternoon and heard auctioneer, Abe Diefenbach's hammer fall at 95 cents per pound. The reserve champion brought 37 cents per pound Acme Markets, paying $1,083.00 for the top steer set the pace for the sale which averaged $29.17 for all entries from the five county area. The average, figured without the two champions was nearly two cents over the market price for prime cattle Wednesday

Donates Steer
For the tenth consecutive year the Lancaster County National Bank bought a steer at the sale to be used at the annual banquet of the 4-H club.

Chosen to feed the 4-H youngsters and their parents and guests was the 1095 pound Angus exhibited by Elaine Herr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Herr, Quarryville R2. Elaine, an eighth grade student at East Drumore Central School, bought her steer, Dobie, last November at 465 pounds.

Stanley Musselman, Director of Personnel and community relations at the "County Bank" bid in the steer at 30.25 cents per pound, and turned the animal over to the Banquet Committee of the Red Rose Baby Beef and Lamb Club.

Steers Sifted
Lancaster County Baby Beef Club leaders had sifted the county entries on Tuesday, sending 29 club calves back to the farms to wait for the Pennsylvania State Farm Show in January.

Taken out of contention on Wednesday was the entry of Maria Frey, Quarryville R2, last year's winner in the show. Miss Frey returned her steer to the feedlot for another six weeks of gain before the Farm Show. The show champion last year brought a sale record of $1.64 cents per pound

In the lamb division of the roundup, David Lapp of Bareville R1, took first place with four southdowns. Second place went to Robert Henry and third place to Fred Hess.

A little learning is a dangerous thing only to the man who thinks he knows it all.
