REMOVE NON-LAYERS

Some non-layers may show up in the pullet flock a few months after they start laying, and Carl O. Dossin, extension poultry specialist, says poultrymen must decide whether to sell these birds or keep them with the hope they will come back into profitable production. If houses are overcrowded, and non-laying birds are few, market those that have stopped laying. If ample room is available, give the healthy-looking, normal-sized birds a chance. Sell thin, under-sized, out-of-condition birds.
