Dieldrin controls major tomato pests—applications last for days.

TOMATOES:

How to stop foliage pests and grow bigger, better quality tomatoes — with low-cost dieldrin

Foliage insects hinder development of the plant, reduce yields and make tomatoes unfit for market.

Low-cost dieldrin controls major foliage insects that attack tomatoes. Here are the details:

DIELDRIN's powerful killing action plus long-lasting residual effect gives your tomatoes effective yet economical protection against thrips, cutworms, Colorado potato beetles, fleabeetles and many other insects.

Dieldrin is economical

As little as 1/4 pound of actual dieldrin per acre will protect foliage against these pests for days. And dieldrin can be used up to 7 days before harvest. For best results, check local application recommendations.

Where to get dieldrin

Dieldrin is available from your local insecticide dealer under many well-known brand names. It comes as liquid, wettable powder and free-flowing dust.

Whichever formulation you choose, look for the name dieldrin on the label or in the ingredient statement.
