Delegate Writes Impressions Of 4-H Congress

Editor, Lancaster Farming

Dear Sir

"Value to live by", was the theme of the state wide 4-H Congress on June 27 - 30 held at the Pennsylvania State University.

Approximately 800 4-Hers from this fair state gathered for valuable training to help enrich their home town clubs and their roles in life.

From each county selected delegates represented thirty-five boys and 55 girls.

The three day congress consisted of interest group discussions, your career choice, a talent show, plenty of good food and many new people to meet.

With a sparkle of youth in their eyes and a lighthearted ring to their laughter, the 4-Hers swung into Alabama Gal and other favorite Square dances. This took place in the cool of the evening after the business of the day's work was over. Volleyball, bowling, swimming and many other teen age sports took place during the hour before the evening meal.

The last evening was crowned with an inspiring message given by the most honorable Attorney General of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, Miss Alpern. Followed by a soul searching candlelight dedication service. While each member lit (his) candle, a choir sang eight 4-H songs in the background. Thus eight hundred youth dedicated their heads, hearts, hands and health to make Pennsylvania a better place for the youth of tomorrow.

To top the trip off just right we 4-Hers of the Garden Spot of the World had a wet bus for awhile. The water heater hose broke and it took some elbow grease of the bus driver to mop the floor. It looked funny to have water running by your feet.

One of the selected delegates of the Garden Spot.

Sincerely,

Miss C. Jane Henry,
New Providence, RI
