ported along with grass chopping and filling of silos.

Most vegetable acreages have been planted but all are in need of more rain. Sweet corn is beginning to push above the ground but growth of the early crop has been hindered by dry weather. Leaf lettuce and radishes are moving to market. Strawberries are sizing in northern areas while harvesting is well underway in the south.

Cherries are turning a flow in all major producing areas. Grapes were in bloom last week in the Erie region. Spotted frost damage to peaches, apples and cherries was becoming evident in the Berks-Lehigh area and some slight effects were also noted in apple orchards of the South Mountain region.

Barley is heading throughout the state and turning to gold in Lancaster County. Wheat is in the boot to head stages and oats are in the pre-boot phase. Corn planting is practically completed. Planting of soybeans has started and ground was being prepared for the buckwheat crop.

Pasture conditions are mainly below average and cattle were being fed some hay and green chop to supplement the roughage.

● Milk Surplus

the congress and the public will react in a way that could mean the end of dairy support programs.

Duncan said consumption had increased slightly during the first five months of the year but not nearly enough to solve the problems of the dairy farmers.

Duncan endorsed a bill introduced by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn. under which he said dairy farmers would make more money by agreeing voluntarily to reduce their milk sales.

Herschel D. Newsom, master of the National Grange, told newsmen the House and Senate conferees would eliminate the dairy section from the proposed farm bill now under consideration.

Earlier, John C. York, executive secretary of Eastern called a meeting Thursday in Washington of dairy leaders and congressmen to urge legislation to counteract the U.S. Supreme Court decision. The decision invalidated protective regulations by which nonmembers of a milk market were required to make payments if they shipped milk into the market.

The payments collected in this way were then divided among milk pool producers.
