$2 Per Year

Hosler Shows Champion At Manheim Beef Show

Wilbur Hosler came within one class of repeating his 1961 clean sweep of the Manheim Fair Beef Show Wednesday night.

The 20 year old 4-H'er from Manheim R3, nudged the 980 pound Hitt Farms Angus calf into the top spot in the field of 36 steers.

In the showmanship contest Hosler's perfect form won the nod from judge Tony Dobrosky, county agent from York. Hosler handled several steers in the show exchanging steers with several other showmen, in proving his skill at the art of exhibiting beef. Last year, Hosler went on to take the fitting contest but this year failed to place in the top three. "I knew I wouldn't win that," the farmer-auctioneer said, "I didn't have time to wash him enough."

A second Angus from the Hitt Farms Landenberg, Pa., was shown to the reserve champion spot by Terry Petticoffer, Elizabethtown R3. Petticoffer the 17 year old son

Blocky Angus Wins At New Holland Beef Show

A blocky, 1090 pound Angus waddled away with the purple rosette of the Grand Championship in the New Holland Baby Beef Club roundup at New Holland Fair Thursday.

The champion, owned and entered by 18 year old Richard Leaman, 2554 Creek Hill Road, was shown by Harold, 15, a brother of Richard.

The steer's owner, a graduate of Conestoga Valley High School who found it impossible to be away from his job on Thursday, realized nearly $600 from the sale of his project after the show.

The top steer was purchased by the New Holland Sales Stables, site of the show, for top price of 55 cents a pound.

The reserve champion, a Hereford, shown by Marie Grumbine, 2480 Horseshoe Roads, weighed 1040 and was purchased by H. D. Matz, Sheridan R1 for 40 cents a pound.

In the open show, William Fisher, East Earl R1, beat out Larry Weaver, New Holland R1. The steers stood in the reverse position at the Lampeter show a week earlier.

The fitting championship went to Elvin Hess, Bareville R1, and Carl Weaver, New Holland R1 took the showmanship contest.

Following are the placings in the show:

Barbecues Begin At Poul. Center

The Lancaster County Poultry Association announced this week that the popular Saturday Chicken Barbecues will be resumed on October 13 at the Poultry Center on the 230 Bypass.

The Barbecues, which were discontinued during the summer months, will again offer carry-out chicken halves from 2 to 5 p.m. on the grounds at the bypass and Roseville Road.

The Barbecues are one method by which the Poultry Association raises funds to pay off the remaining mortgage on the building.

FIVE-DAY WEATHER FORECAST

Temperatures during the next five days are expected to average near or slightly above the normal range of 49 at night to 70 in the afternoon. Little day to day change in temperatures is expected. Precipitation will, probably total well over a half inch, especially nearer the coast. Scattered showers Saturday will be followed by more general rain Sunday or Monday.

Manheim Dairy Show Winners Include One Repeat Champion

A three year old Avishire cow overcame the handicap of showing dry in the Manheim Farm Show to take the Grand Championship for the show for the second consecutive year.

Judy Flory, Lititz R2, the 12 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd G. Flory, showed Florydale Beautena to the purple rosette after taking the senior championship of the breed with the cow, and the junior championship with her junior yearling Beautena was third in the open class at the 1961 Farm Show in Harrisburg, while Thursday's junior champion stood at the top of the senior calf class at the same state show.

Another county bred cow took the championship of the Holstein classes Richard Zimmerman, herdsman for Wilbur Hiestand, Salunga, showed a four year old cow to the top of that breed.

The cow, Wick-Haven Anetta Roburke, was bred by A. W. Wickenheiser, Salunga, but purchased by Hiestand at a state Holstein sale as a yearling.

Stockyards Open House Is Planned

The Lancaster Stock Yards, the largest Terminal Livestock Market in the East has planned five discussion meetings with farmers, marketmen and county Agents, to take place during the month of October, National Livestock Markets Month.

The Yards are festooned with flags and bunting, offices throughout the area are vying for honors in decorating. Farmers and business men have been invited to tour the 28 acres of yards during the month.

Final windup of the observance will take place Friday, October 26, when an open House with Farmers Field Day, Free Lunch and Feeder Calf Sale will be the features. Truckers will display their accommodations before farmers who will tour the pens of the livestock commission men where cattle of all grades and size will be shown. There will be government exhibits to the interest of the livestock feeder.

In Harrisburg Tuesday Governor David L. Lawrence proclaimed to the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that October be designated National Terminal Livestock Market Month and
