

plant most shrubs no closer than three feet from your extension horticulturist recommend. Small shrubs ground covers can be planted closer.

Early fall is the best time to start a new lawn. Grass seed germinates well and the cool weather as the season advances favors establishment of a vigorous turf.

BEST FOOD BUYS Hallowe'en Shoppers Specials

Shopping lists this week-end will include a variety of goodies designed to please the "trick or treat" Halloween visitors. Promotionally inclined retailers will cater to this demand, observes Tom Piper, Penn State Extension Marketing Agent. Watch for special displays and economical prices on candy and cookies.

Apples are always popular with the ghosts and goblins who come to call on Halloween. Harvesting is nearing an end and supplies of all late season varieties are plentiful. Red Delicious, Stayman, Golden Delicious and McIntosh are popular varieties for eating out of hand. Pumpkins, Indian corn and decorative gourds are in plentiful supply and almost a must for party decorating. Sweet apple cider is likewise plentiful and an economical treat.

The first estimate of the new Florida orange crop is about six million boxes more than last year with most of the increase expected on the early and mid-season varieties.

Other good fruit buys include cranberries, grapes and frozen orange juice.

Fresh produce counters are well supplied but with relatively little change in price from last week. Best values remain in the hardy fall items such as potatoes, cabbage, cauliflower, broccoli, Brussels sprouts, turnips, rutabagas, squash and sweet potatoes.

Small eggs hold the key to egg economy in the Fall. The new pullets just beginning to lay will not produce large eggs for some time. Since they are replacing older hens in the laying flock, volume of small size eggs increase and generally cost less per pound to consumers.

Pork makes its debut at the top of the list of good meat values this week. With the spring pig crop coming to market in increased volume, prices have tumbled at all market levels. Better buys will include fresh pork shoulder, bacon, and loin roasts. Hams are plentiful but will move higher in price as we approach the holiday season. Chicken and turkey are economically priced. Good buys in beef will be limited to those items selected for special promotion.

Farmers See Demonstration Of New Mangers

More than fifty dairymen and farmers from various sections of Pennsylvania witnessed a demonstration of the installation of a new type precast concrete manger at Hershey Estates Farm No. 52, Elizabethtown Road, on Monday afternoon. Dairy specialists from Pennsylvania State University, county farm agents and representatives of the Portland Cement Association were also present.

Manger units were precast at the Denver Plant of Kurtz Precast Corporation. These stock sizes, 4', 4' 6" and 5' were used. It was pointed out that these dimensions were recommended by state dairy specialists. The concrete was specially formulated to resist barnyard acids and is of the same high quality as that used in large structural members. Factory production assures consistent quality and proper curing conditions.

Manger units to accommodate ten cows were placed in a little over one hour. Last week, in the same barn, units to accommodate eleven cows were placed in one hour and ten minutes. As the units were placed, stanchion equipment and water lines were positioned and ready for use in a short time.

During the demonstration, state dairy specialists pointed out that the new precast manger units not only permit fast installation, but also make it possible to remove and relocate the mangers in the event of future structural changes to the barn.

Original manger equipment in the demonstration barn was of wood, designed to accommodate twenty-eight cows. Acting upon recommendations of the state dairy specialists, Hershey Farms management converted to precast concrete mangers to accommodate twenty-one cows. A representative of Hershey Estates stated that with improved conditions, it was expected that the rate of milk production would increase.
