Oliver H. Sensenig, the trucker, was directed to pay the

Mrs. Paul Hollinger was co-stress at the session which featured a talk by Jack Tracy, warden of the Lancaster county prison, on the work, problems and costs of prison maintenance.

It was announced the women will sew at the General Hospital on Wednesday, Feb. 20. Mrs. Arthur Landis had charge of devotions. The Saturday, March 9, meeting will take place at the home of Mrs. Gerald Noll, 440 Centerville road.

fine within 15 days and discontinue cutting rates for hauling cattle, chiefly between Lancaster Union Stock Yards and a dressed beef plant in Philadelphia.

Sensenig's competitors complained that his operations were detrimental to the livestock transportation business.

The commission said Sensenig charged less than he should have under rate filings during two specified periods in 1960 and 1961 by basing rates on less than actual mileage and billing for fewer trips than he made.

Competitors in 1960 protested to the PUC that Sensenig was illegally cutting rates by charging $40 instead of $66-$82 for taking a load of livestock to Philadelphia.

The following March, they also protested an application filed by Sensenig with the PUC for lower rates.

Sensenig had asked the commission to approve a schedule which would reduce from $3 to $2 the price per head of cattle and cut from 48 cents to 20 cents the charge for hauling each 100 pounds.

The PUC warned Sensenig Wednesday that further violations could result in revocation of his PUC hauling permit.

Added Work Needed

Sale of bargain garments that need major alterations before wearing may turn out to be costly reminds Mrs. Mae Barton, Penn State extension clothing specialist. If a bargain means a cleaning bill or additional accessories to make it useful, the garment might not be a wise buy.

Remove Non-Layers

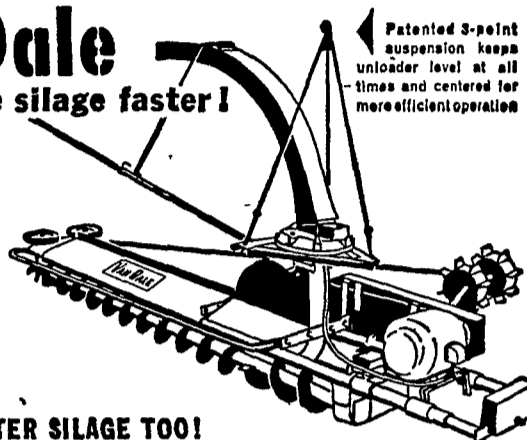

Some non-layers may show up in the pullet flock a few months after they start laying, and Carl O. Dossin, extension poultry specialist, says poultrymen must decide whether to sell these birds or keep them with the hope they'll come back into profitable production. If houses are overcrowded, and non-laying birds are few, market those that have stopped laying.

It took 87 per cent more investment to produce $1 of sales in the iron and steel industry during 1961 than in 1951.
