

Farm-City Week Dates Scheduled

November 22-28 is set for observing Farm-City Week in Lancaster County. The selection of M. M. Smith of Lancaster as County Chairman has been announced by Thomas H. Patton, State Chairman and Associate Director of Co-operative Extension Service, Pennsylvania State University.

Smith will be in charge of this year's county observances, which will place emphasis on urban and farm folks as participants.

Farm-City Week is aimed at getting a better understanding between the farm and non-farm families in the Commonwealth. Special events are planned where farm and city people can get together, exchange ideas, express their problems and witness their basic similarities. These events are sponsored by local representatives of agriculture, government, education and civic groups.

This is the ninth consecutive Farm-City Week to be observed in Pennsylvania. This year's theme is "Farm and City — Partners for a Prosperous Pennsylvania." Emphasis will be placed on pointing out that the farmers and city people are heavily dependent upon each other for their basic needs of food, shelter and clothing.

The objective of the 1963 event is to stress the importance of agriculture and business to the farm and city people alike throughout Lancaster County.
