About Buying Poultry

There are five different kinds of poultry to choose from: chicken, turkey, duck, goose and guinea.

Within each kind of poultry there are various classes. Most suitable for roasting, frying, or broiling are young birds. Young chicken may also be labeled capon, fryer, roaster, or rock cornish game hen. Young turkey may also be labeled fryer-roaster, young hen, or young tom.

For baking, stewing, soups, or salads you may prefer a mature bird.

Also there's a variety of poultry products available. They include ready-to-cook whole or parts that may be chilled or frozen, and convenience foods, such as dinners, pies, tucassees, and soups.

The different kinds and classes of poultry lend themselves to year-round use with enough variety to prevent monotony in family meals.

About A Small Vacuum Cleaner

A small vacuum cleaner is good for light vacuuming and for special jobs, such as cleaning stair steps or the car. You can use it for a quick cleanup of a small area of rug or carpet.

A small cleaner is not built to be used on floors or for heavy-duty cleaning. The successful linings prevent draperries from getting wet, because moisture with heat from radiators or sun's rays cause sizing rings which often appear as yellow streaks or discolorations.

Arrange or anchor draperies at windows so they won't blow and wipe up dust. Weights in bottom hems of draperies help to hold them in place.
