Ideas For A Housekeeping Schedule

Develop a flexible plan and it must be your own plan, not like your neighbor's or your friends. If you schedule every minute, you'll be off-schedule before you know it. Give jobs a priority. Decide which jobs you have to do, which you should do, and which you'd like to do. Tackle jobs in that order and don't spend the day dreading something you can do in a few minutes. Do it, and enjoy the rest of the activities on the day's calendar.

Be pleased and satisfied with what you do instead of disturbed by what remains to be done.

Good lighting aids vision and means less danger of tripping. Stairways especially need good lighting. And be sure bedroom lights can be turned on without getting out of bed.

When climbing, use a sturdy stepladder. Never climb on a chair or a box.

Avoid scatter rugs, but if
