"Mary's Lamb" Is Resold For Chops At Vintage Sales

by Everett Newswanger
Staff Reporter

"Lamb Chop," the prize winning 4-H Club single market lamb owned by Patricia Miller, 1150 Penn Grant Road, Lancaster, brought 33 cents a pound when resold at the Vintage Sales Stable auction Tuesday evening. That was one cent a pound more than it brought at the Pennsylvania Farm Show lamb sale last week.

"It all started when Mrs. Mary Scranton decided to buy a trio of lambs at the Farm Show sale. The wife of the governor bid until she purchased the animals, then promptly gave them back to their young owners, fourteen-year-old Ted Hess of Leola R1 and twelve-year-old Patricia. The third lamb exhibited by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Harpster of Centre County, is to be given to an institution.

So that is why Lamb Chop and Miss Miller, a sixth grade student at Hans Herr Elementary School, showed up at the Vintage Sale.

This time the April-born Hampshire was sold to Aquilantes' Market, Berwyn, Pa.

Patricia's gross earnings from one Lamb Chop and two sales amounted to $69.85.

"I think I'll try lambs again," she said!

Vintage Sales Stables, Inc., also had several of the show steers from Harrisburg at their Tuesday afternoon auction. One of these Angus topped the sale at 30 cents a pound on the bid of Hildebrand Meats, Strasburg.

The Tuesday auction is one of a series of regularly scheduled weekly sales at the Vintage barns.
