Get the BIG silo unloader value!

VanDale

Delivers more silage faster!

Double auger system digs the silage faster and more evenly under all conditions whether silage is frozen, wet, or dry.

Exclusive, adjustable drive hub gives more positive traction, keeps the machine operating evenly, and requires less power.

DELIVERS BETTER SILAGE TOO!

The double augers, operating in conjunction with the patented V-paddle impellers, dig the silage, mix it thoroughly, and then throw it down the chute. Your cows and cattle get good, palatable silage . . . not a powdered mash as so often happens with unloaders using blowers.

working title," the Secretary said.

In 1961, Secretary Freeman said he saw that "when people talked about the farm problem, we had to analyze that problem in terms of people, not commodities" . . . that the Department's concern was for "all rural people — farmers and non-farmers alike" . . . "with the rural community as a whole."

The Secretary stressed that this transformation of the Department "does not mean the effort and activities which the Department carries on for the farmer have been downgraded. We simply recognize that programs for agriculture as an industry are not enough by themselves to serve adequately the needs of the non-farm rural economy, and the time has come to raise the status of the program for rural people to the same level as the programs for commercial agriculture."

Freeman outlined new programs which extended the service of USDA and other agencies to nonfarm as well as to farm people — such programs as housing legislation in 1961 and 1962 that broadened the authority of the Farmers Home Administration in the Department to make credit available to all rural Americans, the Area Redevelopment Act in 1961, the Food and Agriculture Act of 1962 to expand the dimensions of rural development, the Manpower Development and Training Act of 1962, the Vocational Education Act of 1963.

The results of these and other programs carried on through the rural areas development effort "are both impressive and heartening," the Secretary noted

"Local leadership has responded to the challenge," he said "There are rural community development groups involving over 100,000 rural leaders in more than 2,100 counties today. These groups have helped to create some 412,000 new jobs in rural communities, including more than 40,000 jobs provided by 316 ARA financed projects."

Freeman pointed out that the President had directed USDA to establish a Rural Community Development Service to provide "outreach" so that "every program of the Federal government will, in fact as well as theory, be available to the rural community that seeks such cooperation."

FOILED AGAIN

Where Pop and Junior boo-booed was in stopping to discuss who should get first turn with the new B-10 tractor.

Meanwhile—Mom moved in!

Everybody wants to get into the act when a B-10 joins your family. That's because it's a real tractor—so much fun to run while you get the job done.

Job? Make it jobs! The B-10 can handle dozens of chores for you. If you wish, you can get tools for tilling, cultivating, carting, snow-throwing—just like a farmer buys implements.

Ask your wife if you can use the car to come in and look at a B-10. Better yet, bring her with you!
