Children's Clothing With Safety Features
If a child's clothing shows up against the background in which he is playing, you can see him more easily. Also motorists can see him easily. Outer garments of attention-attracting colors, such as yellow and red, can give this protection.

Fasteners, whatever kind they are, also need safety features. Loosely sewn buttons can come off readily and a child can swallow one; broken buttons may bruise a child's body; and safety pins are a hazard — they may open if the child falls.

Although convenient in providing large neckline openings, drawstring necklines are not advisable for children's garments. Drawstrings become hard to manage when moist.

All trims and decorations must be firmly fastened so they won't catch onto corners of furniture or sharp edges of toys.

Because children by nature like to move around, to play, and to explore the world in which they live, choose clothing that is safe for their activities.

Prepare Clothing for Coin-Operated Drycleaning

Before taking clothing to a coin-operated drycleaning establishment, prepare it for drycleaning just as the professional drycleaner does.

Mend rips and tears; brush pockets, cuffs, and seams to remove loose soil and lint.

Remove stubborn stains, such as paint, ink, dye, and food, with special solvents made to treat each kind of stain.
