

Hog Evaluation Contest Won By Mother And Son

HARRISBURG — Top honors in the live hog evaluation contest at the ninth Pennsylvania Livestock Exposition was a family affair. Mrs. Anna Marie Schick of Kutztown R2, Berks County, won first prize of $50 in the adult class.

Her husband, Herbert K Schick, won the $5 sixth-place award.

Their son, Otto, was first in the junior class and won a $25 prize.

Schick, former owner and operator of a printing business in Philadelphia, moved to Berks County about eight years ago and established a swine farm.

Last Sunday they were among 70 persons—19 juniors and 51 adults—who participated in the hog evaluation contest. Winners were those who scored closest to official results posted after the animals had been slaughtered and the carcasses were judged.

In addition to the Schicks, other area winners were:

Adult class — Park F. Thomas, Beavertown, Snyder County, second; James Z Martin, Christiansa, Lancaster county, third, Ronald Trostle, York, fourth.

Junior class — Rick Boyd, Glen Rock, Chester County, second, James Stewart, Harrisburg, fifth; Dennis L. Grumbine, Myerstown, Lebanon County, sixth; Tom Hess, Leola, Lancaster County, seventh; David Heisey, Newmanstown, Lebanon County, eighth; Fred Hess, Leola, ninth.

E'Town-Donnegal And Lincoln 4-H Clubs To Hold Capon Roundups

Two 4-H Community Capon Clubs will hold their annual roundups next week. The Elizabethtown-Donnegal Club affair will be held at Hostetter's Banquet Hall, Mount Joy, on November 16. The birds should be brought to this location by 9:30 a.m. Judging will be completed by noon, and participating members will be the luncheon guests of the Mount Joy Rotary Club. Judging will be on the Danish System by Herbert Jordan, poultry specialist from Penn State University.

On Wednesday the 17th, the Lincoln Capon Club will hold its roundup at the American Legion Hall, Ephrata. Judging will be at 5:30 p.m. and club members will be dinner guests of the Ephrata Rotary Club.

ent program causes the milling industry to pay more for the wheat they use for flour than would be required if they purchased from an open market. Therefore, the cost is passed to the consumer. Under the program the government subsidizes wheat used for flour at fifty-seven cents per bushel.

State Senator William G. Sesler, in a general session, discussed many of the problems that he saw for the state government, and York County Representative John Hope Anderson spoke on the responsibilities of a representative in the Pennsylvania General Assembly.

Dr. William W. Tomlinson, vice-president of Temple University, who recently returned from his second visit to the Soviet Union within a period of seven years, addressed the more than 375 farmers and wives at the annual banquet Tuesday night. In a discussion of "Life and the Pursuit of Liberty in the USSR" he said, "The most conspicuous characteristic of today's Union of Soviet Socialist Republics is change. This nation of 225,000,000 heterogeneous people, occupying the largest single land mass in the world, and bound together for almost half a century by rigid bands of totalitarianism, is steadily undergoing a transformation, the end result of which will
