Arrange or anchor draperies at windows so they won't blow and wipe up dust. Weights in bottom hems of draperies help to hold them in place.

Adding glamor and flavor to casseroles with colorful ripe olives? Chop or slice ripe olives and stir into macaroni and cheese or your favorite tuna-noodle dish.

Sticking toasted slivered almonds into mashed sweet potato balls, then putting into a 350-degree oven for about 25 minutes until the balls are heated through? Almonds give a different appearance and flavor to the sweet potato.

Heating canned peach halves in their sirup, then draining and filling the peach cups with hot crumbled bacon? Served with French toast or waffles, the hot peaches are an excellent eye-opener for breakfast.

JACK B. HORNER
State Representative
The Supreme Court has handed down its decision on legislative reapportionment.

YOUR LEGISLATOR'S REPORT

This has been a very knotty and complex problem and I'm glad to have it now settled. Both parties worked out a bipartisan plan for Lancaster County and by and large this plan has been followed. We had all hoped that it wouldn't be necessary to put part of the county in with Lebanon County, not because of any antagonism toward our neighbor, but because our population fits very neatly into the guideline for a five-district county.

However, as in so many things in politics, the local situation had to give a bit in order to work out a statewide plan. As a result, Elizabeth and Warwick Townships and the Borough of Lititz are included in a district with part of Lebanon County.

Lebanon County was the main problem in reapportioning this part of Pennsylvania. Its population is too large for only one district and not large enough for two. The only solution was to create one seat which includes the major portion of Lebanon County and another seat for the remaining portion of Lebanon County and part of an adjoining county. Lebanon and Lancaster Counties have many things in common and a joinder of parts of these two counties into a district makes a certain amount of sense. It shouldn't be difficult for one man to adequately represent the interests of both counties since they have so much in common. Given their ideal choice I believe both counties would prefer to have all their districts completely within their individual boundary lines, however this turned out to be impossible under the guidelines agreed upon, and with this in mind the final plan is one we can all live with.

As far as Lancaster County is concerned, the major change brought about by the new plan is the division of the county into five separate districts. Up until now the county was divided into two districts, one included the City of Lancaster and the other the county. This meant that all four of the county legislators ran at large and represented the entire county, exclusive of the city. Under the new plan each one of us now runs from a separate district within the county. My district is No. 98 and includes the Boroughs of Columbia, Mountville, Marietta, Mount Joy, Elizabethtown, Manheim and all the townships in between. I frankly like this new method. Each one of us is most familiar with the area in which he lives and I believe each district should get better representation with one man exclusively responsible for a separate area. I certainly know more about the problems of the northwest end of the county than I do of the other areas and I'm sure the same is true of the other legislators in their areas.
