Farm Prices Are Not Inflationary NFU Pres. Says

WASHINGTON, D.C., April 6 — National Farmers Union president Tony T Dechant called statements that current farmers' prices are inflationary false, saying, "nothing could be further from the truth"

Testifying before the Senate Appropriations Subcommittee on Agriculture, Dechant also urged increased USDA appropriations to assist family farmers and rural Americans Dechant said that "in spite of some increase in the price of a few commodities, the parity ratio is only at 82 percent, the average income of persons on farms is less than two-thirds the per capita income of the non-farm population, and farmers who are only 7 percent of the population are receiving only 2.9 percent of the Nation's income excluding income from services. Under these circumstances, farmers' prices are NOT inflationary.

"Until the goal of parity is reached, farmers are entitled to price increases. The fact is that with production costs on the rise price advances are needed just to stand still"

With a roll of refrigerator cookie dough, it's easy to have freshly baked cookies within a short time. Form the cookie dough into rolls, wrap rolls in waxed paper, and chill until firm enough to slice. You can store the rolls in the refrigerator several days and bake cookies as needed themselves, but if you wish you can sprinkle unbaked cookies with colored sugar or cinnamon sugar.
