Facts Worth Knowing About Honey

Honey is the nectar of flowers collected, modified, and stored by the honeybee in small waxy cells of the honeycomb. It takes about 20,000 bees to bring a pound of nectar into a hive. A pound of nectar yields about one-fourth of a pound of honey.

Last year more than five and a half million bee colonies in the United States provided us with over 273 million pounds of honey.

Honey flavors are as varied as the flowers in the field. The flavor comes from the flowers. Color also comes from the flowers. Honey colors range from water-white through golds and ambers to dark brown. The darkest honey comes from the fireweed that follows forest fires in the Northwest.

By far the most popular honeys are clover and clover blends. Often honey may be a blend of several types. As a rule, the lighter the color of honey, the milder the flavor.

Bar Cookies Easy To Prepare

Bar cookies are the easiest kind of cookies to prepare. You can use any of several mixing methods, but once the batter is mixed you just spread it in a pan and bake. To be sure the cookies are done, bake index-type bar cookies until the top crust is dull. Bake cake-like bars until a cake tester inserted in the center comes out clean. Cut bar cookies while still warm or after cooling, as the recipe indicates.

Brownies are the all-time favorite bar cookies. You can glamorize them with a crunchy bottom layer of brown sugar and nuts or top them with chocolate frosting.

Your cookbook will give you basic bar cookie recipes.
