Corned Beef The Easy Way...

Now there's a new kind of corned beef brisket — so revolutionary that you can oven or rotisserie roast it and be sure of tenderness plus full flavor. There is no need anymore for a kettle with enough water to cover the brisket. No need anymore to worry over trying to keep the water simmering but not boiling. No more splattered range tops to clean. Now you can have the tenderness, flavor, and the ease associated with the no-watch oven roasting way. If you wish you can braise it in a Dutch oven with only a little moisture and your favorite vegetables like a New England dinner.

Hot or cold it is delicious in sandwiches. Roast 2 1/4 to 3 hours for a 3 to 4 pound brisket; 3 hours for a 4 to 5 pound brisket. About 20 minutes before the glazes over the roast, if desired. Reserve some of the glaze to serve over the sliced meat.
