

Baby Beef Sale Closes Record '67 Farm Show

HARRISBURG — The 51st Pennsylvania Farm Show rang down the curtain last Friday afternoon on another successful and record-breaking performance.

Closing day attendance was estimated at 30,000 to put the five-day total at 710,000, a new all-time record topping the previous mark, set last year, by 10,000.

The champion 4-H baby beef, Ann Peischel's 1150-pound Angus, "Victory," brought $4.60 a pound — 71 cents short of last year's record — but only $338.60 short of the total paid for the 1966 champion.

Danny George, operator of George's Foodliner in Bethlehem, who has been bidding on the champion steer for "at least seven years, and maybe longer," was successful this year. In making the purchase, the outbid Howard Johnson's Restaurant, buyer of the champion steer at the previous 12 Farm Shows.

Just as Howard Johnson's missed on their 13th try — on Friday the 13th — Miss Peischel, of Columbia County, had "a feeling" before the sale that Friday the 13th would not prove to be "too lucky." The Penn State freshman, who hopes some day to become a veterinarian, collected $5,290 for her champion. Last year's champion, shown by Billy Davis, was a 1060-pound Hereford that sold for $5,628.60

HESS LAMB CHAMP
The champion 4-H lamb, a 108-pound Hampshire shown by Fred Hess, of Leola R1, brought $1.50 a pound compared to the $4.75 price of last year. It, too, was brought by George's Foodliner

Even the weather gave a record performance — with not a bit of precipitation during the week-long show, although a light rain began to fall a few moments after the doors closed at 2 p.m.

State Agriculture Secretary Leland H. Bull termed the 51st Pennsylvania Farm Show "the best we ever had, even better than our 50th anniversary show last year."

"Fine weather during the week, of course, helped swell the crowd this year. So, too, did the exhibits and displays that clearly show the trends of modern agriculture — where we have been and where we are going"

The record-breaking turnout, Secretary Bull pointed out, demonstrates the interest of city people as well as those directly engaged in agriculture. "Consumer attendance at the Show has been growing rapidly in recent years," he added

"This interest is emphasized most strongly in the fact that total attendance at Farm Show this year was more than double Pennsylvania's farm population," Bull declared.

Latest records indicate approximately 328,000 persons live on farms in the state.

SHUTTLE SERVICE
The State Farm Products Show Commission announced that next year's show will be held from January 15 through 19. It also indicated that steps already have been taken to provide shuttle service from distant parts of the parking lots to the Farm Show Buildings. Big crowds this year promoted the Commission to seek this type of service, but time was too short to complete arrangements for buses, it was explained

Filing Time Extended On Del. Valley Order

The U S Department of Agriculture has extended to February 7 the time for filing exceptions or comments to its December 8 recommended decision to amend the Delaware Valley Federal milk marketing order. The initial deadline was January 3, later extended to January 27. Both extensions were requested by dairy farmer cooperatives

The recommended decision for amending the order would provide for paying all dairy farmers uniformly through a market-wide pool, and revise some other provisions.

The Delaware Valley order sets minimum prices paid to dairy farmers supplying milk for the Philadelphia and Wilmington metropolitan areas, and for most of southern New Jersey. Prices consumers pay are not regulated by the order

Comments or exceptions now may be filed up to February 7. Four copies should be submitted to the Hearing Clerk, Room 112-A, U S Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. 20250, where they will be available for public inspection
