Eastern Pennsylvania And New Jersey Weekly Review

LIVE HENS

Prices of light type hens unchanged, heavy type 1/2c lower. Demand fair for limited offerings of light type. Producers continue to hold flocks despite sharp decline in egg market of past week. Demand light for ample offerings of heavy type. Prices paid at farm: Light type hens 4-5 1/2 mostly 5-5 1/2c. Heavy type Hens 14-15 mostly 14 1/2c. TURKEYS — Processing very light and generally consists of clean up of heavy toms from out of state. Trade advices indicate poultry placement light and growers intentions sharply lower than in 1967.

State Dairymen Lead 46 States For New Holstein Members

BRATTLEBORO, Vt — Of the 786 new memberships recently approved for Holstein-Friesian Association of America, Penna dairymen make up the largest state group. At the recent Board of Directors meeting of the Holstein organization, 126 individuals and firms from the Keystone state were admitted.

Forty-six states were represented on the roster of new memberships. Other state groups in the front ranks include New York with 118 and Wisconsin at 107 new members.

Total membership in the national breed organization now exceeds 44,700. Members are entitled to register and transfer Holstein cattle at reduced rates. They also qualify for voting, participation in breed improvement programs and to receive general membership publications.

PROTECT MACHINERY

Farmers and farm machinery owners who don't have enough storage space under roof can still protect their machinery from bad weather, reminds Burton S. Horne, extension agricultural engineer at Penn State University. Tillage equipment, such as plows, disks, harrows and cultivators can be stored outside after they are cleaned and painted. Coat metal parts that work in soil with a rust preventive. Plastic sheeting provides satisfactory storage until equipment can be placed under roof.
