Monday afternoon when they invited the members to "sit in" while in session. Orientation programs were conducted by Senator Jeanette F. Reibman of Northampton County and Representative Alvin C. Bush of Lycoming County.

At the Monday banquet, "The Implications of The Pennsylvania Constitutional Convention on Pennsylvania Youth" was discussed by Dr. Louis L. Manderino, dean of the Duquesne University School of Law.

Local legislative officials were guests of the county 4-H members at a Congressional Breakfast Tuesday. At this session, delegates and lawmakers had an opportunity to discuss local issues and define the purposes of the educational 4-H program.

Dr. Russell E. Larson, dean of The Pennsylvania State University College of Agriculture, who served as main speaker at the breakfast, pointed out that "today's youth live in a fast-moving, scientific, international, and space-minded age. It demands much study and preparation — and it promises much in return."

Dr. Larson told the delegates that 4-H Club experiences have already given them a headstart in accepting roles of leadership and responsibility.

"You are learning and appreciating the requirements of organization, planning, and knowledge," he said, "and you are learning that along with privileges, opportunities, and rewards come the obligations to society as a whole."

Another popular activity was the Monday night social get-together when boys and girls were paired as dates by using data fed into a computer.

P. Glenn Harr, assistant State 4-H Club leader at Penn State, coordinator for the event, said that State 4-H Capital Days is one of the highlights of the 4-H Citizenship training program at the state level.

When You Use Any Aerosol Spray Never spray near fire or flame.

Never smoke while spraying. Never store container where temperature may go higher than 120 degrees.

Never throw an aerosol spray can into a fire, or keep on the stove or radiator.

Never puncture a can — this could also cause it to burst.

Pack Styles of Tuna

Tuna is available in solid-pack, chunk-style, and grated or flaked.

Solid pack is a wise choice for certain recipes. Each can contains solid filets of tuna that you can use in the center of a salad platter or break into pieces of any size for hot or cold dishes.

Chunk-style is a good all-around style. The tuna is in bite-size pieces suitable for casseroles, skillet dishes, or salads.

Grated or flaked tuna is a shortcut to economical tuna mixtures. The small bits are ready for easy blending with mayonnaise and other ingredients for sandwich fillings, dips, or salads.
