ENTERTAINING AIDS

This is the entertaining season. It begins with saying "Welcome" to new neighbors in the fall and decreases when the Christmas holidays are over.

Your entertaining may be as simple as a cup of coffee to welcome a new neighbor, a stop by invitation after a football game, or a formal reception. Either takes some planning and know-how.

For those who are unable to relax and enjoy their own parties, The Pennsylvania State University offers a course titled Guides to Entertaining. The course is designed to give you confidence and the know-how to make your entertaining successful.

You'll find ideas for food to serve, decorations, and management. Correct forms for invitations, clothes for the occasion, good grooming practices, and etiquette are included.

A new lesson in the course is titled QUICK AND EASY MEALS. There you'll find suggested combinations of foods for quick meals when guests drop in, and foods that can be successfully prepared ahead. In this lesson Mrs. Alene Mintz, the author, has shared some of her most successful recipes. Once you've used them she feels sure you'll file them with your favorite ones.

You'll have time to use the information in the course as you

Horse Dies After Hitting Cars

A five year old quarter horse, owned by Guy D. Buch, 613 S. Broad St., ran from the side of the Buch home and into the path of a car driven north on S. Broad St. by Mrs. Mary F. Heck, 111 N. Liberty St. on Nov. 2. The horse, who was wearing a halter attached to a chain and cement block bolted into the street so suddenly Mrs. Heck said that she didn't have any time to take evasive action. After the horse collided with the Heck car, it continued running north on S. Broad St. to the vicinity of Second Ave. where it fell onto and under the parked car of Mrs. Irene Keen, 324 N. Broad St. which was occupied by John Keen. The Keen car was pushed into another parked car, owned by Mary E. Doll, 1308 Main St., Akron, shortly after hitting the Keen car the horse died. The horse was valued at $400. Damage to the Heck car was estimated at $400 and $176 to the Keen car. The Doll car received no personal damage.

How To Redecorate Inexpensively

Redecorating doesn't have to be expensive. The less you have to spend, the more you need to rely on color. Tidy to decide on a unified color scheme throughout your house before you start redecorating. This can help your home appear larger. And you can economically interchange draperies and rugs.

Select colors you and your family like. The furnishings you now have can determine the colors you choose. A miscellaneous set of furnishings can often be pulled together by a related color scheme.

You need to consider the limitations of the setting of your house. Rooms that face south and west get more heat and light than do those facing east or north. Perhaps you want to use cool colors in south and west rooms, warm colors in east and north rooms.

There's another economical feature to color choice. Colors that don't fade or fade gracefully mean achieve a new look in decoration, economically.

Remember, color can help you achieve a new look in decoration, economically. Nature's colors — greens, blues, and browns and their hues — not only reduce daily and weekly care but they stay good-looking longer than do most clear, sharp colors
