ed. If only a few needles drop, the tree is fresh and more likely to retain its needles throughout the holiday season in your home. Once home, saw off the butt end of the tree — about an inch or so above the original cut — so tree can absorb water. To prevent your tree from drying out and becoming a fire hazard, stand it in water and store it in a cool, shady place, preferably outstid, before you bring it indoors. Leave it in water even after you decorate it, and locate it away from radiators, fireplaces, television set, and other sources of heat.

Holiday Safety Tips
Check all electrical outlets for overloading. Avoid the use of extension cords or multiple plugs if possible.

Place ashtrays away from any flammable arrangements.

When you use a fireplace, always use a firescreen. Flying ashes landing near the tree or on packages could start a costly fire.

Clear traffic lanes in your home of the usual Christmas clutter. Clean up wrappings, empty boxes, and papers and dispose of them in a safe manner. This will eliminate much of the clutter that occurs.

Coating Christmas greenery with fire-retardant chemicals can make the yule season safer and more decorative.

The fellow who knows more than the boss does about the job is also smart enough to keep his mouth shut.

Huge Hailstone:

Largest officially recorded hailstone to fall in the U.S. measured 17 inches around and weighed 1½ pounds. It fell near Potter, Nebr., on July 6, 1928; with others only slightly smaller. Hissing as they fell, the huge chunks struck with such impact that they burrowed deeply into the ground.

Happy New Year

Out with the old, in with the new, but not before we wish everybody a very happy New Year. May the New Year bring to you and yours the best of everything!
