

NEW MACHINE
SHREDS BEEF

Many meat cuts will be looking different through processing in coming years, but that the old standby, ground beef, could hardly be improved upon. Right? Not so, says machinery developer. Now there's a machine which shreds rather than grinds meat. Maker claims beef thus processed retains its desired "bloom" longer. Shredding said to be gentle, precise . . . leaves marbling and juices "in place", rather than dispersing unevenly. Also interlocks meat

Farming Important

After spending the week here at the State Farm Show, we must recognize that agriculture is still a very important part of fibers, helps hold patties together, maker says the economy and of the life of many Pennsylvanians. The food producers have a chance to serve trends and progress in their particular line of agriculture. The consumers obtain a better understanding of agriculture
