

Jason Weaver Has Champion Pen At New Holland Show

In a show that veteran cattlemen called the best ever held at the Annual New Holland Sales Stables Show Jason Weaver, Quarryville R2, walked off with the champion pen Thursday morning on his six Black Angus steers that were finished perfectly. The champions fed only corn chop 50 percent supplement and enough hay to keep them or feed sold in the afternoon auction for $34.75 a hundred to Cross Bros. Philadelphia. Jason's father, Aaron Weaver, said he has fed steers since 1927 and has found that feeding mostly corn chop to steers is a good way to put on weight. Aaron said steers eat less chop as they get fat.

The pen of steers from which the champions and the third place Angus steers were selected started in October by eating 30 pounds of corn chop per day. By the end of the fattening period this week, they were eating only 20 pounds a day.
