enjoy of any camper — aromatic biscuits and scrambled eggs. To prevent breakage of your eggs en route to the campsite break them yourself at home and store in a plastic container. When morning comes, shake the container, transfer beaten eggs to a hot skillet and scramble.

Meats won't stick to the grill if you brush them first with oil.

If you have a yen for corn at the seashore — use the sea to "shore" up the flavor. After removing the silk (don't remove the husks) place corn in weighted burlap bag and soak in salt water for about an hour (A cool stream will give a tasty lift, too!)

Biscuits can be kept temptingly warm by placing them on a rock preheated in the campfire.

A greasefire can be a sudden and dangerous threat to campers. However, baking soda or salt will suffocate the flames.

You may find your kitchen baster small and slow for barbecue sauce. A handy substitute is a good quality paintbrush or

Vegetable Buying Tips

Buy snap beans that are firm and crisp with good color for the variety. Avoid wilted, seriously blemished, thick or tough pods.

Beets should be a rich red color, firm, round, and smooth with a slender taproot. Beet tops don't always indicate quality. Avoid elongated beets with scaly areas or soft, wilted beets.

Cabbage should be firm and heavy for its size with outer leaves a good green or red color. Avoid those with wilted or yellowish outer leaves.

Carrots should be well-formed, smooth, well colored, and firm. Avoid those with green areas at the top or ones that are soft.

Celery should be light to medium green with rigid stalks and glossy surface. Avoid discolor, soft, or pithy branches.

Corn should have green husks or very soft necks, thick or hollow centers, or sprouts.

Select potatoes that are reasonably smooth, well shaped and free from blemishes and skinner areas. Avoid those with large cuts or bruises, green color, or sprouts.

Cucumbers should be firm, well-shaped, and well-colored. Avoid large overgrown, dull-colored, yellowish or withered ones.

Lettuces should be fresh, and bright green in color. Iceberg and romaine leaves should be firm and crisp — other softer. Avoid discolored, irregularly shaped heads, or those with overgrown central stems.

Look for dry onions that are firm, covered with papery outer scales. Avoid those with large green spots and blemishes, wet
