also served as treasurer and delegate to the County FFA.

Living on a 60 cow herd dairy farm, Nelson has developed a keen interest in dairying. "To day farming is a hard occupation to get into, but through hard work, I hope to get a start," he says.

Very active in FFA, Weaver has participated in public speaking, tractor driving and land judging in local, area, and state contests. He won the chapter dairy farmer and farm mechanics awards and is in on the chapter chain calf.

He is a Chapter and Red Rose Farmer Degree winner, and attended the National FFA Convention in Kansas City and the State Convention at Penn State.

Nelson has supervised farming programs in a number of enterprises including breeding and fattening swine, dairy heifers, veal calves and field corn. He feeds, milks and cares for 20 cows on his family's second farm.

A member of the Weaverland Mennonite Church, Nelson is active in the Youth Group
