

Pennsylvania Included in New Soybean Group

Farmers, agricultural business men and university agronomists from Maryland, Delaware, Pennsylvania and New Jersey, says Joe Newcomer, extension seed and scientific association to promote production and use of soybeans.

The Mid-Atlantic Soybean Association welcomes members from Maryland, Delaware, Pennsylvania and New Jersey, says Joe Newcomer, extension seed and scientific association to promote production and use of soybeans.

and anyone joining before June 30 will be considered a charter member, he adds.

The organization proposes to "bring together all persons interested in the production, marketing, distribution and utilization of soybeans and soybean products."

Further, the group plans to "collect and disseminate, by publication and otherwise, information relating to the practical and scientific phases of the problem of increasing yields coupled with lessened costs."

As an affiliate of the American Soybean Association, the new group's members would receive "The Soybean Digest" and the "Soybean Bluebook."

In addition to Newcomer, officers elected include Olin Gooden, Woodside, Del., president, Edward J. Allen, Prince Frederick, Md., vice president, John Phillips, Millsboro, Del., treasurer, all elected for two years. Directors elected to two year terms were Robert G. McClain, Salis bury, Md., Kenneth Hostetter, Hanover, Pa., Dale Reagan, Federalburg, Md., and Hilyard Simpkin, Allentown, N.J.
