

Farm Women Hit X-Movies at Drive-Ins

At a meeting of the Executive Board of the Society of Farm Women of Lancaster County this week, action was taken against the showing of X-rated movies, which was termed pollution of the mind.

The 30 local presidents will present the recommendation that each member of farm women societies write a personal note to state officials stating her position on the matter and urging legislation. The concern as it relates to the rural women is in regard to films shown at drive-in theaters which usually are in rural areas.

Stressing that present laws do not prohibit attendance so long as they are advertised as X-rated, a spokesman pointed out that the problem arising from showing these films at outdoor theaters is in the congregating of cars and young people in adjoining areas to the theater who are viewing the scene without paying admission or hearing the dialogue.

The Farm Women will also send letters to outdoor theater managers and will urge the legislative committee of the Pennsylvania Society of Farm Women to include this position on the 1971 resolutions for the State convention in Harrisburg.

In other business conducted by Mrs. John N. Hess, county president, committees were named for the county convention to be held November 7 in the Farm and Home Center. The nominating committee includes Mrs. Leon Thomas, Society 14, Mrs. Ronald Ober, 25, and Mrs. Ervin Brown, 13. They will find candidates for treasurer and secretary.

Serving on the ticket committee are Mrs. Arthur Linds, Society 19, and Mrs. Milton Eberly, 6; Mrs. Arthur Wenger, 27, and Mrs. Lester Krieger, 18, on the Memorial Committee; Mrs. Melvin Meek, 21, Mrs. Paul Kauffman, 4, Mrs. Ernest Shaub, 17, and Mrs. Wilbur Heller, Bazaar Committee.

Miss Ethel Kindig, 12, Mrs. Robert Gregory, 3, Mrs. Carl Johnson, 15, Mrs. Kenneth Martin, 26, Registration Committee.

Mrs. Andrew Loy, 2, and Mrs. Harold Eby, 7, Auditing Committee.

Mrs. Scott Gamma, 1, and Mrs. Jack Henderson, 25, Guest Committee; Mrs. Robert Rohrer, 23, will be in charge of ushers; Mrs. Lloyd Herr, 22, Mrs. William Dean, 23, and Mrs. Donald Horning, 30, Decorating.

Societies 19 and 20 are planning to entertain guests at Costoga View on June 18. On July 16 Society 21 and 22 will visit Society 23 and 24 are scheduled for August 20 visitation, in keeping with the farm women program of visiting the home once each month on the third Thursday.

Mrs. Hess announced at State level the scrap book contest has been discontinued, but Lancaster County will continue with a scrapbook contest. Mrs. Lloyd Herr, Lancaster RD6, was named chairman.

In place of the state scrapbook contest there will be a special project to name the Pennsylvania Farm Woman of the Year. Details were distributed to local presidents who will inform members concerning requirements for eligibility.

The next meeting will be the county picnic and executive board meeting combined to be held at Noon in the Lampeter Community Park Wednesday, August 5.

Mrs. Elam Hess, Society 20, and Mrs. Leo Stadel, 24, will serve on the food committee. All members of Farm Women Societies and their families are invited to attend with each bringing her own place setting and a covered dish.

Serving as hostesses at the Tuesday, June 2 meeting held at Rhoads Spanish Tavern, Quarryville, were Mrs. Carl Johnson, Mrs. Ernest Shaub, Mrs. Esther Musser and Mrs. Melvin Meek. Miss Ethel Kindig led devotions.

● Dairy Month

its sponsors chose to hold it from June 12 to July 10.

By 1939, it had become June Dairy Month, celebrated on a calendar month basis with a national campaign to promote greater use of the dairy products in such plentiful supply.

Today, even though fashions inspired by those of the '30's are back in milady's wardrobe, dairy farming has come a long way from the '30's. New knowledge and techniques have affected everything from Bossy's housing to her dinner bucket, making it possible to achieve favorable conditions and high milk production all year long.

Still, June remains Dairy Month. It's traditional — and it's logical.

The coming of summer, after all, signals a change in life-style for most of us.

Along with bulky overcoats, we shed a lot of the formality that goes with the "indoor" season. Clothing and living pace become a bit more casual — and so does eating.

The backyard barbecue replaces dining room suppers while the weather smiles. Cooks, who may want time to indulge their swimming or golfing interests, look for easy ways to keep the family well-fed and well-pleased.

That's where dairy foods come in. They're quick and convenient ready to serve as is — or great ingredients. Their own fresh taste complements other foods, adds meal-appeal and nutrition.

June is a good time to call to mind how handily dairy foods fit into a tote-along meal, a fabulous dessert with make-ahead charm, a new specialty for the backyard barbecue — all kinds of carefree cookery.

Happy Dairy Month! Happy summer! Happy eating!

Milk — Wonder Food

"Name me a product that can be pasteurized, homogenized, whipped, churned, condensed, dried, frozen, blended and sold. That can be innoculated and sold, sold as a beverage, for medical purposes, and as the greatest nutritional food available to mankind," said Roe Stanley, president of ADA of Ohio at the Midwest Milk Marketing Meeting in Pittsburgh in April.

A GRADUATE COURSE IN COMMODITY TRADING

Take the study by the Commodity Exchange Authority. Out of 8,782 speculators who took part in 417,906 different transactions, 2,184 — or about 25% — actually made money . . . some of them, big money. 75% lost money.

That's why pointing more and more traders toward membership in that highly lucrative "25% Club" has been — and is — the long term goal of our Commodity Department here at Reynolds.

Over the past two years, thousands of people have "graduated" from our elementary commodity courses and received a free copy of our "Common Sense Approach to Commodity Futures Trading."

So we are now scheduling a Two-Session—

ADVANCED COURSE IN COMMODITY TRADING

THE FIRST SESSION is conducted by Mr. Donald B. Conlin, our National Commodity Manager. It's a sophisticated explanation of the prerequisites to commodity trading: The true use of fundamentals in choosing positions; how to design order forms for busy markets; adapting the realities of price control programs to individual needs; what (and what not) to expect from exchange floors and their brokers; the enlightened approach to deliveries, margins, and market regulations.

THE SECOND SESSION is conducted by Mr. Houston A. Cox, Partner-in-Charge of Reynolds Commodity Department. Going beyond basic trend analysis, he presents a fresh approach on how to blend fundamental and technical analysis, money management, and planned trading techniques to maximize profit potential.

We can't make any guarantees, of course. But you should be much better equipped than you were to become a member of that "25% Club."

We're holding these Sessions on —

Tuesdays, June 16 and 23 at 7:30 P.M.

Reynolds Lancaster Office
61 North Duke Street

There is no charge for the Seminar of course. But space is limited, so please make your reservations soon. Simply call Richard Reed at 397-8221, or mail the coupon below.

Please make reservation(s) for me for your Advanced Commodity Seminar. If I attend, I understand I will receive a packet of studies illustrative of fundamental analysis.

Wayne Sweet Bulky Means More Milk!

Let's face it. Milk cow rations aren't always the most appetizing. Even though properly supplemented nutritionally, the ingredients are concentrated to get profitable milk production. Boost milk output, pep up appetites, add variety and tempting tastiness with Wayne Sweet Bulky. Sweet with molasses, bulky with beet pulp, it's fed mixed, top-fed or straight (for cows on high-quality, high-protein legume roughages). Great as a dry cow or heifer conditioner. Does a good low-cost job when hot weather dulls appetites or pastures dry up.

Feed for the difference innovations make. Feed Wayne.
