VOL. 16 NO. 7

Lancaster Farming, Saturday, January 9, 1971

$2 00 Per Year

Arrios, Sauder, Manheim RDL, left, had the top FFA $2.2 million facility as a "whole- Co. Farmers Assn. corn entry while Dennis Rohrer, Litit RD2 wight had the sale distribution center for this DHIA Report best filler tobacco entry in the annual FFA competition this area. The area includes parts Editorial Page week.

4 stories and features the week.

Agway to Build

Agway, Inc has purchased Maryland land in the Elizabethtown area for construction of a modern multi-million dollar warehouse and distribution center to serve parts of four states

The new center is expected to be in operation within two years and will replace several smaller facilities now in operation, including the Spring Gaiden facility in York County

Spring Gaiden and the other facilities, however will not be phased out until the new struc ture is in operation at Elizabethtown, according to Willis Esbenshade, one of 18 Agway directers and the only one from Lancaster County of ground, part of a larger tract pleted the new facility will cludes cover nearly nine acres of ground under roof, according to Area Markets Esbenshade

Esbenshade described the new Co. Agent's Columns

Delaware, being built by Agway to mod ernize its distribution system, eva, New York has already approved land pur in operation chases for both the Elizabeth town and Westfield, Massa chusetts centers

The new Geneva plant is re

Pennsylvania and ported by company officials as "functioning quite smoothly" The new facility is one of three after several months of shakedown operation

Esbenshade noted that com-The first of the three buildings pany figures project a savings is already in operation at Gen of nearly half a million dollars a year over current operations The Agway board of directors when all three new buildings are

> Esbenshade described primary advantages of the new facilities, including the new structure at (Continued on Page 10)

In the Farm Show Issue

This is the Farm Show Issue! Farm Show Schedule Besides page one articles, Faim Women Societies The new structure is to be highlighted by the county to Food Price Feature started soon on a 10 acre parcel bacco show and Agway's plans 4-H Tobacco Roundup for a new distribution center at Ida's Notebook owned by Agway. When com Elizabethtown, the issue in Keystone Farmer Degrees

Classified Ads

43 34 29 42 17 New Co FFA President 26 Penn State Livestock Day 30 2, 3 '71 Ag Progress Days 31 12, 13, 14, 15 Spence Column 4, 37 Thomas Column 9 U.S. Pesticides Study 37 : And many other farm news 4 stories and features throughout

Lancaster County Tobacco Show Report

The annual FFA county corn Sauder, Manheim RD1, first in

Farmers Can Up Wheat Benefits Under ASCS

The Lancaster County ASC Committee is now establishing wheat yields for use under the 1971 wheat programs

According to Miss Dorothy Neel, ASCS County Executive Director, farmers have the opportunity to establish yields Strasburg RD1, who was judgtion rather than the now es- binder tablished projected yields.

proof of wheat production and inches, over Witmer J. Rohrer, harvested acreage must do so, Strasburg RD1, who was first however. prior to official noti- in short filler under 26 inches. fication of 1971 bases, allotis 1967, 1968, and 1969 The farm short wrapper under 26 inches must have had a wheat allotment and harvested wheat acreage in all three years of the base period, Miss Neel said

She explained that for the farmer this means: if the farmer's 1967-69 average yield is higher than the established Fulton Grange 66 meeting yield now on record in the ASCS office, he would be elicreased to the 1967-69 average gible to have his base figure ineligible for higher payments unfigure. This would make him der the 1971 wheat program.

and tobacco show and the adult corn competition; Dennis H. in each of the three FFA and tobacco show were held at the Rohrer, Lititz RD2, first in-fill- six adult classes were as fol-Farm and Home Center Thurs- er tobacco, and Jay Bauman, lows. Washington Boro RD1, first in FFA winners were Amos wrapper tobacco Bauman was ersville, second, Eugene Bolpion in FFA tobacco.

Manor High School, while Sau-fifth. der and Rohrer are students at FFA wrapper tobacce—Clyde judging involved six classes in RD2, third, Clark Stauffer, three categories of tobacco wrapper, binder and filler.

Winners by categories were Leola, fifth. Binder — Roy M Rohrer, based on actual wheat produce d first in both long and short

Filler - Dale Rohrer, Lititz Farmers electing to furnish RD2, with long filler over 26

Wrapper — Elmer Boyd, Ephments, and yields, which will be rata RD1, long wrapper, over have the desire to cut down on mailed in February.

Eugene M Rohrer, Strasburg specific foods and lose weight? Base period for proven yields RD1, who was judged first in

Calendar

Monday, January 11

Saturday, January 16

Pomona Grange Dinner Meeting, Rhoads Spanish Restaurant, Quarry ville

Others placing in the top five

FFA corn - Ted Huber, Millalso named overall grand cham- linger, Denver RD2, third; Greg Landis, Lancaster RD6, fourth, Bauman is a student at Penn and Cliff Charles, Millersville, Manheim Central High School Erb, Columbia RD2, second, In the adult competition. Donald S. Wenger, Manheim Ephrata, RD1, fourth, and Kenneth Groff, 37 Quarry Road,

> FFA filler tobacco — Sam Trupe, East Earl RD1, second, Douglas Rohrer, Lititz RD2, (Continued on Page 8)

Weight Watcher Course To Begin January 19

Do you, like everyone else,

How about joining a course being offered at the Farm and Home Center by the Lancaster County Extension Service, asks Miss Joan D. Lucas, assistant Extension home economist.,

The "Lose Those Extra . Pounds" course starts January Pennsylvania State Farm Show, 19 at 1.30 p.m. and will meet every Tuesday for six weeks at 1 30 pm. until February 23.

"By the end of six weeks if 7 30 pm .— Lancaster County you are faithful," promises Miss Lucas, "you'll walk away feeling and looking better. See you January 19, 130 pm at the Farm and Home Center"

Elmer Boyd, Ephrata RD1, shows the long wrapper tobacco which won him a first place in the wrapper category in the annual tobacco show Thursday at the Farm and Home Center: Boyd, who just turned 60, noted he has been growing tobacco since he was 14 years old. He had about five acres this year, but lost one acre when Middle Creek overflowed during the summer's heavy rains. (Boyd's 12-year-old son, Kerry, won the 4-H corn contest last week. See story on page 29.)

This Is Our Annual Farm Show Issue