Paul Burkholder appears to be perfectly relaxed as he drives his small tractor in the pulling contest at the Manheim Fair Wednesday night. At least five men are already on the platform being pulled by the seven to nine horsepower vehicle and the man at far right is waiting his chance to step aboard. A large crowd gathered for the event.

Small Tractor Pull Winners Named

Three winners in varying horsepower categories were named in the small tractor pull at the Manheim Farm Show Wednesday night.

Paul Burkholder was first in the seven to nine horse power category with a pull of 80 feet and a weight of 1,350 pounds.

Dwayne Miller was first in the 10 to 12 horse power category with a pull of 80 feet and 1,350 pounds.

Tim Hershey, the only entry in the 14 and over class, had a pull of 47 feet and 655 pounds.

Actually, both the Burkholder and Miller pulls were stopped by obstructions at the end of the course. The contest involved pulling a wooden platform on which another person was added at 10 foot intervals until the vehicle stalled.

AN UNFAIR COMPARISON BETWEEN FORDS AND BULLS . . .

This comparison between Ford lawn and garden tractors and bulls is designed to put bulls in a very bad light. Unfair!

The Ford can neatly mow down up to two acres of green grass per hour and sweep up the clippings behind with a 41 inch lawn sweeper that hooks on behind to give you a neat job. While the bull not only takes his sweet time eating the grass. He doesn't even try to clean up after himself. Unfair!

The bull stops and goes when he has a mind to and may paw up the ground little when irritated while the Ford starts and stops when you turn the key on and off and can plow a neat furrow in any man's garden with its plow attachment. Unfair!

Bulls are temperamental and hard to control (keep 'em outa china shops). Ford tractors are fun to drive, easy to steer and are available with Hydrostatic transmission which gives you an infinite variety of speeds forward and reverse with a simple push and pull of a lever. Unfair!

Finally, while meat prices have risen in the past year, Lancaster Ford has actually lowered garden tractor prices!

Now, are you ready to put your bull out to pasture and come see us about that Ford lawn and garden tractor?
