Early Warning System from John Deere

Here's how to plant your corn with peace of mind this spring—equip your planter with an "Early Warning System" John Deere Electronic Seed Monitor.

Photocell sensors in the planter shanks are connected to indicator lamps and a buzzer. They warn you immediately, both visibly and audibly, if no seeds are coming through or if seed flow is above or below the rate you want.

The "Early Warning System" monitor may be used with most John Deere Corn Planters. Visit us soon for detailed information.
