Tips on a Good Diet

Foods and nutrition specialists with the Extension Service at Pennsylvania State University say that variety both among and within the Basic four food groups is the most important single principle in assuring a proper diet. Daily recommendations include: four servings of bread or cereal; four servings of fruit or vegetables; two to three cups of milk plus other dairy products; and two, three-ounce servings of meat, fish or poultry.

Carl Brandt
Hershey, Pa.

"I couldn't have expanded into a 500 head per year hog operation without Harvestores and automated feeding . . .

I had all I could do just grinding feed for dairy cows. Now I can handle more land, more cows, plus the hogs. My hogs are finishing sooner and my dairy butterfat test is at least .2% better than on dry corn. They carry a 3.8% test even through hot weather and go as high as 4.2%. There's no other way to handle corn."
