Many of the ladies who work in the Spring Glen kitchen are pretty fine cooks themselves in the Pennsylvania Dutch tradition. But they follow Mrs. Senseng's recipes right down to the piches salt.

Chow-chow is the firm's most widely distributed product today, followed closely by pepper cabbage. Other big sellers include macaroni salad, potato salad, cole slaw and chicken pot pie.

While the bulk of Spring Glen's sales are through other stores, they do operate a chain of 19 farmers' market stands. Paul Metzler is also involved with these stands. "We have more stands at farm markets than any other company," he says.

"One reason our stands are successful is that we try to make them look as nice as possible. We put up flowers, water fountains and picket fences and we keep them clean. The people who run the stands do a very good job for us. And then, of course, we sell what we feel are very good products."

HESSTON

StakHand® 10

The efficient way to handle hay in 1- to 1¼-ton compressed Hesston HayStaks!

JUST ARRIVED
SEE IT ON DISPLAY

Now, you can have a one man haying system and put up 4 to 6 tons of hay an hour in compressed stacks that weigh 1 to 1¼ tons. The StakHand 10 picks up the hay from the windrow, packs it into distinctive, weather-resistant Hesston HayStaks that develop a natural, protective thatch, and unloads the stack in the field, at the roadside, or wherever you may wish to feed or store it. Come in and let us show you the economy of a Hesston StakHand 10 that lets you have a one man haying system. The 60" wide Flail pickup also picks up and Stacks corn fodder.
