Gov. Shapp Proclaims Young Farmer Week

The week beginning November 5 has been proclaimed Pennsylvania Young Farmer Week by governor Milton Shapp. Shapp signed the proclamation in Harrisburg recently, while PYFA members and representatives of various state agencies looked on.

The proclamation read:

Agriculture is a basic and vital part of our economy.

Capable and well-educated leadership is needed to maintain and improve the efficiency of American agricultural production for the benefit of both producers and consumers.

The Pennsylvania Young Farmers Association is organized through the Vocational Agriculture Programs in the public schools for the purpose of providing continued educational opportunities for the young farm families.

Young farmer programs in local communities provide technical information, develop civic responsibilities, and promote rural-urban understanding.

The Pennsylvania Young Farmers Association enables young farm families throughout the State to associate together in frequent planned meetings, whereby they gain new ideas, create new friendships, and acquire valuable experiences.

The Achievements of the Pennsylvania Young Farmers Association merit public recognition.

Therefore, I, Milton J. Shapp, Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, do hereby proclaim the week of November 5-11, 1972, as PENNSYLVANIA YOUNG FARMERS WEEK in Pennsylvania, and urge all our citizens to assist in according this observance the attention and importance which it fully merits for its community, county and State-wide service.
