Egg Market

Tuesday, January 9
NORTH ATLANTIC - Carton orders moderate and occasional good. Monday's inventory noticeably higher than last week but sentiment in producing areas improved as producers begin to clear some surplus through retail promotion. Otherwise, wholesale offerings moderate and in satisfactory balance with sluggish buying interest. Distributors remain basically bearish.

BALTIMORE - Carton Eggs, Prices to Retailers, State Graded - Minimum One Case Sale Range; large 64-70; Medium 62-68; Mostly Large 64-67; 62-65

ANNOUNCEMENT - 1-9-73 U.S.D.A. banned the importation of all fresh poultry meat into the U.S. and placed restriction on the importation of table eggs. The new restriction on table eggs requires that all imported eggs be washed, sanitized, and packed in new cartons, flats, dividers, and crates. Further, these eggs must be certified by a veterinary official of the exporting nation as having come from flocks proved to be free of Newcastle disease through the use of sentinel birds. Certification will not be required if the eggs are sent under seal directly from the port of entry to an approved egg processing plant for breaking and pasteurization under federal egg inspection supervision. The same exemption for poultry meat from Canada will cover eggs imported from Canada.

New York Dressed Meats

Thursday, January 11
 Compared with Wednesday, prices for steer and heifer beef continues weak. Veal, calf and lamb steady, pork loins $1.00 higher, picnics, butts, and spareribs steady, hams steady to $1.00 lower.

Movement of fresh meats slow for the most part. Beef Rounds and particularly ribs under pressure with the latter burdensome. However, beef arm chucks and pork loins moving into retail channels readily. Supplies of small stock classes and pork moderate while beef normal and appears excessive at this point.

Old Farmer's Riddle: Which candles burn longer, the candles in a birthday cake or those in a candlestick? (Answer below.)

Ask the Old Farmer: This bothers me. What becomes of the millions and millions of fish that die in the ocean? The ocean floor must be feet deep with them. The big ones eat the little ones, but they too have to die. M.F.S., Parsons, Kan.

You must have been reading that poem about the great fleas, have little fleas upon their backs to bite 'em' and so on. Things don't work like that in the ocean. If a big fish gets crippled, it's more likely that several hundred little ones tackle him and clear him to the backbone. Whatever goes to the bottom, and there is plenty, works out just like fertilizer on a corn field. As a matter of fact, the bottom of the ocean raises a crop of vegetation every year or oftener.

Home Hint: Shake coarse salt on window sashes to prevent them from freezing. When a broom wears shorter on one side, dip it in hot water, trim it evenly with hedge shears and it will sweep better. Riddle answer: They all burn shorter.
