

The Governor and the Girls . . .

Lancaster Farming Photos

The Lancaster County Honey Producers Association took first prize for the County honey exhibit at the Farm Show. It was the first time the local group took the top award.
