Egg Market

Tuesday, January 30

Prices mostly unchanged with an unsettled undertone prevailing. Outside Southern California, supplies tended to liberal proportions. In most areas large are ample with extra large slightly excessive. Medium are in better balance but still ample. Except for scattered areas, demand for loose eggs in generally dull. Carton orders are slow to fair despite scattered retail promotions. Breaking activity continues light due to the wide variation between raw and finished product values.

NORTH ATLANTIC — Undertone weak. Cartoned trade dull despite several retail promotions. Some distributors are becoming free sellers in an effort to increase movement. Wholesale inquiry light. Jumbos and smalls in fair balance, mediums fully ample. Extra large, large, and ungraded eggs in heavy supply and failing to clear even at lower offering prices.

BALTIMORE — Cartoned

Jaycees

Week, the E-Town club honors a special group, such as bosses and wives. This year they honored local FFA students.

Kenneth Myer, former FFA'er and currently state director for the Jaycees, was master of ceremonies for the banquet. He spoke briefly about how his FFA leadership training has helped him both as a farmer and as an involved member of his community.

Other FFA students honored at the banquet were James Gruber and his brother, Marlin, sons of Mrs. and Mrs. Raymond Gruber, E-Town RD3. Their cousin, Robert Gruber, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Gruber, Bainbridge RD1, also received a certificate.

Judging criteria included projects, schoolwork and an interview. The judges were: Galen Kopp, ag consultant for Pennsylvania Power and Light, working out of the Harrisburg office; Jerry Shaffer, also a PP&L ag consultant in Lancaster; August Birchler, vo-ag teacher at Penn Manor, and Phil Olweiler, of Olweiler Insurance in E-Town.

Old Farmer's Riddle: When is your heart like a policeman? (Answer below)

Ask the Old Farmer: In talking about old times and customs with a friend the other day, he kept telling me about "bog-shoes". What are they? I pretended to know. J.A.M., Chicago

Customs, names of things and so-on differ with locations, but what used to be known as "Bog-shoes" in our section was a chunk of oak board, rigged with a loop of iron, and made to fit on a horse's foot so he wouldn't settle too deep when used to haul off marsh hay. They made the critter walk like a man on snow-shoes and they did all right too. But I never figured out how they taught the animal to walk with them in the first place.

Home Hint: Prevent a pitcher from dripping by placing a small piece of butter beneath the lip. Old soap lasts longer than fresh, so buy well in advance and store unwrapped. Riddle answer: When it keeps a regular beat.
