Ask the Old Farmer: Can you

Ask the Old Farmer: Can you tell me anything about the term "funeral chair?" I recently purchased two chairs and found this written on the bottom.

A.K., Batavia, N.Y.

When I was a small boy,
there were very few modern conveniences in our section.

Many funerals were held in private homes and certain men in the community had chairs which they would lend for such occasions. They had to be in good, sound condition, with no squeaky joints which might disturb the services.

Home Hints: Use marshmallows as candleholders to keep birthday candle wax off the frosting . . . Moths won't come into your closet if you keep dried orange peel on the shelf.

USDA Will Survey Producers' Plans

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) will have a special planting intentions report in January, with survey questionnaires going to producers in 35 major farm states later this month, USDA's Statistical Reporting Service (SRS) announced recently.

Survey results, for release Jan. 22, 1974 at 3:00 p.m., EDT, will provide state acreage estimates as indicated by producers' plans about Jan. 1 for corn, barley, oats, sorghum, rice, spring wheat, soybeans, cotton, flax, and sugar beets.

This survey will not replace the annual SRS planting intentions report issued in March
